COMBINATION

Quality, not quantity, is key. Typically, it's advisable to combine 1 to 2 types of skin booster products, selecting the combination based on your skin's specific needs.

If you're new to these products, we recommend starting with the basic option. For those with sensitive or inflammatory skin conditions, it's best to opt for single-ingredient products that are gentler on the skin. You can consider transitioning to more complex treatments as needed, with the guidance of a skincare professional.
